

Week 2: C Programming Lab exercise

Matrices multiplication

Prompt the user for the dimensions of the matrices which are to be multiplied. After checking the compatibility for the matrices multiplication, the elements of the matrices should be input through the keyboard. Then your C programming code should multiply the matrices. Then using a function the original matrices and the product matrix has to be displayed in a matrix format on the screen.